TADA presents Back to Dance Open House

CPR training offered by American Heart Association

July 27, 2016 - The Texas Academy of Dance Arts (TADA) is proud to announce it will be hosting a fun-filled family Back to Dance Open House event, with CPR training offered by the American Heart Association.

The event will take place on Saturday, August 20th at the TADA dance studio located at 26803 Hanna Road in Oak Ridge North from 9am-3pm. Admission is free.

This open house promises to kick off the upcoming dance year with friendly faces and carnival-like fun including bounce houses, shaved ice, children's crafts, raffles, giveaways, and more. Come meet the TADA teachers and stock up on new or gently-used dance essentials at our annual dancewear resale shop while learning about CPR and First Aid from the American Heart Association.

"It's really a celebration of life, helping hearts, and the joy of dance all wrapped up in to one, and so much fun for the whole family" says Kristan Ballard, TADA's executive director.

TADA will also be celebrating the unveiling of the newest addition to the state-of-the-art facility, three new sprung floor dance rooms and a designated homework room available to all students.

TADA is a National Award winning dance studio serving the Woodlands, Oak Ridge North, and surrounding communities. It offers a variety of children's and adult dance classes in ballet, jazz, tap, pointe, contemporary, hip hop, leaps/turns, drill, musical theater, Zumba and more. Free boys-only dance classes also available beginning this fall. On August 21st, TADA will be holding auditions for the second annual Nutcracker ballet. Please visit www.dancetada.com for more information and for class schedules.
